

My paid subscription to XM Satellite radio enables me to hear uncensored content much like cable TV operates. What law that actually makes sense should prevent XM from broadcasting local content?

Forbid there is a national emergency, local programming can address local areas in emergencies. I hope this would stay true because I do not listen to commercial FM or AM at all! I would not want to miss an emergency message because some lobbyists have special interest that are not mine.

I pay for service, don't take away what I pay for.

Thank You,

Jim Stewart
Brick, NJ